LEVERAGING GREY LITERATURE: A TRAINING IN INTELLIGENT RESOURCE ASSESSMENT

This summer workshop and training is the fourth in the GreyWorks Series hosted by FEDLINK and provided by GreyNet International. The training is based on a model developed by a team of information professionals in advance of the Seventeenth International Conference on Grey Literature.

The training comprises a step-by-step, hands-on approach in the assessment of grey literature resources sustained by information communities in government, academics, business and industry. The stepwise approach implemented throughout the training is in line with the model GreyNet uses in its own assessment of information resources it provides grey literature communities and those they serve.

The training and its implementation will enable one to better leverage information resources, thus ensuring an organization's positional advantage and ability to function more effectively.

Workshop Instructor – Leveraging Grey Literature

Dominic Farace is Head of GreyNet International and Director of TextRelease, an independent information bureau specializing in grey literature and networked information. He is a native Louisianan and holds degrees in sociology from Creighton University (BA) and the University of New Orleans (MA). His doctoral dissertation in social sciences is from the University of Utrecht, The Netherlands, where he has lived and worked since 1976. After six years heading the Department of Documentary Information at the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences (SWIDOC/KNAW), Farace founded GreyNet, Grey Literature Network Service in 1992. He has since been responsible for the International Conference Series on Grey Literature (1993-2015) and in this capacity, he also serves as Program and Conference Director. He is managing editor of the GL conference proceedings, editor of The Grey Journal (TGJ), and provides workshops and training in the field of grey literature.
