

Contents

'FINDING AND BRIDGING KNOWLEDGE GAPS VIA GREY LITERATURE'

The GreyLit Report: Understanding the Challenges of Finding Grey Literature75
Danielle Aloia and Robin Naughton, The New York Academy of Medicine Library (USA)

Looking for Information that is Not Easy to Find: An Inventory of LibGuides in Canadian Post-Secondary Institutions Devoted to Grey Literature 81
Marcus Vaska, Alberta Health Services and Rosvita Vaska, University of Calgary (Canada)

Bridging the Knowledge Gaps: What Grey Literature does for the Library of Congress' Indigenous Law Portal91
Carla Davis-Castro, Library of Congress (USA)

Transition to Open Access and its implications on Grey Literature Resources101
Snježana Čirković, Austrian Academic Library Consortium (Austria)

Collecting, organizing, and preserving diverse publication sources for the good of one community archive: Legal challenges and recommendations110
Andrea Copeland, Indiana University at Indianapolis; Tomas Lipinski, University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee; Kyle Jones, Indiana University at Indianapolis (USA)

The recent improvements on circulation of research results at the Japan Atomic Energy Agency.....123
Satomi Inagaki, Misa Hayakawa, Naomi Ebisawa, Mayuki Gonda, Takashi Nozawa, and Keizo Itabashi, Japan Atomic Energy Agency, JAEA, (Japan)

Colophon	70
Editor's Note	73
On The Newsfront
GL19 Call for Posters – 'Public Awareness and Access to Grey Literature'
Submissions close on September 25, 2017	131
GL19 Conference Program – Nineteenth International Conference on Grey Literature, Rome, Italy on October 23-24, 2017	132
Advertisement
CVTISR, Slovak Centre of Scientific and Technical Information	72
The New York Academy of Medicine	74
FEDLINK, Federal Library and Information Network - Library of Congress	130
Author Information	134
Notes for Contributors	135